I agree with the FISTS proposal with the exception of adding the 12 WPM code testing Element. 5 WPM is sufficient to insure that an operator would at least recognize a distress signal.